Over the past couple of weeks, since the 4th of July holiday, a lot of our parish families are on vacation. I can tell at Mass on Sunday because our congregation is a little smaller. Whether people have gone to the ocean or the lake, or to visit their relatives or on weekend excursions, many of our parishioners are looking for rest and refreshment, for fun and adventure. Summer provides many families with the ideal opportunity to enjoy some time away from the routine of work and daily schedules. I hope all of you will find time this beautiful summer to go on vacation.

While you're away, don't take a vacation from God. Almost any place you might be staying will have a nearby Catholic Church. Though, in some of our southern states, Catholic churches may not be as prominent as in the Northeast, usually you can find a church within a reasonable drive of the resort area or town where you are staying. It might take some planning on your part, but a little effort will ensure that your family fulfills their Sunday obligation to attend Mass while on vacation.

There's a website that will give the church location and mass times for any city in the U.S.: www.masstimes.com. Just as you make reservations at your favorite boardwalk restaurant or buy tickets in advance for Disney World, a few minutes of planning will enable you to locate a Catholic Church and write down the times for Sunday Mass near your motel, cottage or condominium. And while you're on vacation, don't forget to thank God for your family, the means to go on a vacation, and the beautiful expanse of this promising continent.

Rev. Richard A. Infante
Pastor
